Angie Katselianos

Angie Katselianos is a widely acclaimed consultant to growth- and success-oriented professionals in business and corporate environments. She has dedicated the past 30 years to researching the secrets that unlock human motivation, personal power, and effectiveness that lead to performance excellence and innovation.

Today, Head of Platinum Performance International, Angie believes that “speed is worthless unless it’s in the right direction.” She partners with organizations galvanizing human productivity to achieve breakthrough results in record time while helping employees perform better personally and professionally for the rest of their days.

Angie worked her way up the corporate ladder during a 12-year career from a PA to General Director in the American and European marketplaces for multinationals such as Price Waterhouse, British Airways, Johnson & Johnson, and The Thomas Cook Group.

Since 1999, she has trained, coached, counseled and consulted with government officials, business leaders, corporate work forces and private individuals around the globe. Her work is living proof that every individual is capable of growth and success beyond their imagination when they align their heart with the mind to create value.
